

Chicago Blower Corporation Profit Sharing and 401(k) Arrangement
Department of Labor (DoL) – Qualified Default Investment Alternative (QDIA)
DoL Required Employee Notice – December, 2014

Introduction to your Plans' QDIA:

Chicago Blower Corporation sponsors the Profit Sharing and 401(k) Arrangement and the Production and Maintenance Employees Profit Sharing and 401(k) Arrangement ("the Plans"), two qualified retirement plans to help you attain financial security during your retirement years. As a Plan participant you decide how your retirement dollars will be invested. If you do not make an investment election, your contributions will be invested in the Plan's Qualified Default Investment Alternative (QDIA.) This QDIA Employee Notice:

1. describes when the QDIA is used;
2. provides details regarding the QDIA selected by the Plan's Trustees;
3. outlines your right to direct the investment of your Plan contributions to other investments available in the Plan or to elect not to have contributions withheld from your pay, if eligible; and
4. explains how you can obtain additional information regarding those investment alternatives.

Keep this disclosure with your Summary Plan Description and other Plan documents, statements and notices.

When the QDIA will be used: The QDIA is utilized ONLY if you do not direct your Plan investments!

Future profit sharing contributions (as distinguished from employee 401(k) payroll contributions) on behalf of participants with no other direction for future contributions on file with the Plan Administrator, are subject to default direction into the QDIA.

In general, you can invest your Plan account in any of the investment alternatives available in the Plan but this direction MUST be actively authorized by you on the appropriate investment directive form as provided by the Plan Administrator. (See final section of this Notice for instructions.)

The QDIA for your Plan is: The Vanguard Target Retirement™ Funds.

These are a set of individual mutual funds that are broadly diversified within themselves and that gradually become more conservative as your targeted year of retirement approaches, reducing risk automatically. The current 11 funds comprising this product line are set up to simulate a "Glide Path" to retirement. That is, the funds with the most distant dates (eg. 2040 thru 2055) are structured with the most aggressive allocation to stocks - almost 90% exposure. Those with closer-in dates (eg. 2015 and 2020) adhere to more conservative allocations; stock exposure is in the 53% to 63% range (respectively) for these two funds with the 2010 variant currently hosting 40% in stocks.

The "Glide Path" is relatively constant, meaning that changes occur slowly and steadily over time. For example, the stock allocation of the 2045 fund will change from 90% initially to about 30% in about 2050 – a change of 50 percentage points over a period of about 45 years or by just over 1 percentage point a year on average. At the target date, the fund's 50% equity allocation, consistent with all funds, will be comprised of approximately 70% domestic equity (Vanguard Total Stock Market Index) and 30% foreign equity (Vanguard Total International Stock Index Fund). At the target date, fixed income portion will be 50% comprised of a combination of Vanguard's Index Total Bond Market II, Total International Bond, and Short-Term Inflation-Protected Securities funds.

Finally, consistent with the "Glide Path" methodology, each Target Retirement Fund merges into the Target Retirement Income Fund seven years after the target date. For example, the 2010 Target Retirement Fund will be merged into the Target Retirement Income Fund in 2017. Operating expense ratios for all the Target Retirement Funds are between 0.16% and 0.18% annually. Vanguard Index funds comprising the Target Retirement Funds are: Short-Term Inflation Protected Securities, Total Bond Market II, Total Stock Market, Total International Bond, and Total International Stock.
